IF PROSPEH IS WHAT YOU NEED, YOUR LIMITATIONS OFTEN MANIFEST AS:

If Prospeh is what you need, your limitations often manifest as struggles with financial worry and uncertainty—You lead your life with a scarcity mindset, never letting yourself to enjoy the things you truly crave. You're constantly comparing yourself to others, perceiving the wealthy as villains, and incessantly questioning why they have what you don't. The reason such thoughts trigger you is because wealth is attainable for you—the reaction is intentional, serving to break your complacency. Take this as the universe providing a gentle nudge to acknowledge that you yearn for more, far beyond the mundane. Even with ample funds, every purchase is met with scrutiny, preventing you from enjoying your latest purchase. This, however, doesn't suggest that you handle money well.

On the contrary, you tend to be quite impulsive with it. This behavior can manifest in two ways: going overboard the moment you see a sale, OR being the person who watches every dime and penny, and never gets pleasure from the money they earn for their hard work. Splurging provides an immediate rush, swiftly followed by regret for having indulged so recklessly when a more significant plan requires your savings. Granted, planning for retirement is crucial, but so is cherishing the present. Even when you indulge in luxury items, they're frequently reserved for the “right occasion”—an event that seems to never come as the items gather dust. You're the kind of person who restricts guests from sitting on your sofa, fearful of potential stains, given its expensive price. This is symbolic of someone needing more Prospeh in their life, going through the motions without fully embracing the abundance life offers them.

IF PROSPEH IS WHAT YOU NEED, YOUR LIMITATIONS OFTEN MANIFEST AS:

So consumed in planning and securing the life you dream of, that you've neglected to enjoy the life you currently have. You're tense at the prospect of the future. You may grumble about your present situation in life, yet you're not necessarily taking actions to transform it. Instead of concentrating your energy on the good things you possess, you're more attuned to those around you. Everyone is evolving—they're getting married, earning promotions, having children, moving on, while you may feel stagnant, figuratively or literally convinced that nothing will change. However, how much effort are you truly investing towards these ambitions? It's like you're forever waiting for opportunities to fall in your lap, but shy away from proactively seeking them out.

Deviating from the routine and plan etched in your mind seems daunting, leading you to settle for what feels safe, even if it is a job that makes you miserable. Of course, not everyone has the luxury of easily leaving their job—some of us have bills to pay—but deep down, you realize there are steps you could take towards your dreams. However, you're so haunted by the 'What ifs' of life that you talk yourself out of actually accomplishing something authentic and significant. Spending time in your room manifesting can only achieve so much if you're not investing energy into those desires—the universe cannot shoulder it all.

THE EMBODIMENT OF PROSPEH IS SOMEONE WHO

The embodiment of Prospeh is someone who is fueled by an intense passion for success across all realms – work, personal growth, and social life. One could say, Prospeh is of the rare breed that actually loves their job. Since for them their job must be more than that, it must have a purpose and a future! They value their career significantly more than the average person does – taking immense pride in it, as it forms an integral part of their identity. It's not just about money—though it's obviously important to them—Prospeh aims to finance their life of luxury, desiring the best in life, clothing, and their home. They understand that work is just a stepping stone towards the progress of happiness, and yes, in Prospeh's case, money truly does buy happiness. Prospeh loves the attention they get from being well-liked and popular among friends, and thrives in networking and social events, making a memorable impression upon entering a room.

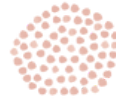

Confident in their ever-growing funds, they won't hesitate to pick up the tab when dining with a friend. Onlookers admire how effortlessly Prospeh navigates life and career challenges, evoking curiosity about their journey. Unseen by others are the scars and life lessons left by their past that have shaped them into an adaptable, resilient, and thriving individual they evolved to be. In Prospeh's universe, there is no such thing as luck, only the rich fruits of hard work. Try to suggest otherwise and watch Prospeh shoot you a subtle but oh-so-deadly glare. After all, they stand where they are today not by the whims of fairy dust, but through their persistent effort and resilience. Prospeh exudes an alluring energy and an elusive aura, much like watching them pose for the cameras at the Met Gala.

THE EMBODIMENT OF PROSPEH IS SOMEONE WHO

Prospeh checks their bank account like it's their favorite social media page, brightening up when they reach a new financial goal – a sign that it's time to indulge in some retail therapy. People tend to overthink and second guess their purchases, but not Prospeh – as Ariana Grande said, if they want it, they got it. They have a funny way of rationalizing their purchases, hesitating to spend money on items like gas or groceries. However, when it comes to books or a new outfit, or lunch with a friend, they never bat an eyelash! Prospeh tends to lean towards the Luxe Maximalism style, modern, or contemporary. They're constantly adding to their home decor, always incorporating more of what they love. You might spot Prospeh on their walking treadmill, facing multiple monitors set on their desk. Grand oak bookcases house their extensive book collection, reflecting their profound respect for literature and their ceaseless pursuit of knowledge.

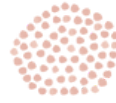

When Prospeh is in their zone, it's challenging to snap them out of it; they are likely deemed workaholic by those closest to them. To them it's not work, it's just getting to do what they love. They work diligently to sustain their flawless taste. The term 'Bougie' barely scratches the surface when it comes to Prospeh, but the most impressive bit is their indifference towards it. They take pride in their high standards, fully aware that these standards are the outcome of their hard work. Prospeh's travels ooze with luxury, prioritizing comfort and experiences, unfazed by budget constraints—after all, they likely have a specific amount already set aside for the getaway. Prospeh passionately dreams big, visualizing a life abundant in comfort, success, and luxury.

TO PROGRESS ON THE PATH OF PROSPEH, IT'S ESSENTIAL TO

To progress on the path of Prospeh, it's essential to confront yourself and override your scarcity mindset. Perceiving life through the lens of lack will only impose limitations, rather than reveal the wonderful opportunities the universe has to offer. Manifestation is not the entire equation. Merely sitting and envisioning a scenario doesn't guarantee its occurrence—there's no energy contained in passive thought. Energy is ignited through action. Let go of the expectation that things are simply going to be handed to you—go and get them. Demand them. Stop interpreting 'no's' from the universe as negative instances, instead feel empowered knowing it holds a superior plan for you. It's perfectly acceptable to desire a shift in your life—we're human after all—but to achieve that, you must accept the life you have now. By doing this, your energy rather than wasting it on resisting your current state. To determine your destination, you must first acknowledge your starting point.

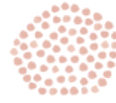

The saying 'Dress the part' is the energy of Prospeh – the belief in attracting wealth and success by living it as a part of your daily life, making it look effortless to you. Visualize yourself in that lifestyle and start taking small steps to incorporate aspects of that dream life into your every day. Ask yourself—what would Prospeh do? Would they agonize over whether they should purchase that item you can't shake from your mind, or would they simply add it to the cart and go to checkout? Exactly. This is not about blowing all of our hard earned money, but more about taking care of your life needs, while at the same time giving yourself the gift of self love. Trust in the universe, in yourself! That together you can co-create a beautiful and abundant life that is your right.

TO PROGRESS ON THE PATH OF PROSPEH, IT'S ESSENTIAL TO

To truly thrive you have to foster an environment of abundance and prosperity. Remove or repair damaged items and declutter your home—your setting cannot thrive amidst broken or cluttered spaces that amplify a sense of scarcity. When enhancing your space, consider artworks symbolizing abundance, such as cascading waterfalls, rolling waves, lush greenery, or blossoming flowers in forests—anything that conveys growth. Invest in high-quality items like clothing, jewelry, or furniture. What defines a quality item? Elements like fabric, intricate details, and fine workmanship not only contribute to the high quality and aesthetic appeal of an item, but surprisingly, they also infuse their own energy into your life. There is an energy to quality items that cannot be denied. You instinctively want to cherish these items, and that's the kind of energy that you want to embody.

Lighting serves not only as home jewelry offering fantastic opportunities to accessorize your space much as you would yourself, adorned in gold and gemstones. The preferred light levels should radiate a soft, gentle glow, avoiding any harsh or glaring brightness. The most effective approach to implement this strategy is through timed lighting sensors. For example, you can configure your lights to gently wake you at a consistent time every day. Wood roots us as human beings. Embrace expansive and elongated wood grain patterns in furniture and flooring. Cedarwood and oak furniture not only visually elevate your area but also reinforce success, good fortune, and prosperity.

TO PROGRESS ON THE PATH OF PROSPEH, IT'S ESSENTIAL TO

Strive for pieces that exude opulence. It's not just a cheap sofa—it's one you can truly sink into. It's not just any desk—it's one positioned for power. Even if it's just an Ikea desk—take the extra step to accessorize it. Allocate spaces in your home for creating success, focus, but especially ones to practice meditation. If you spend much time in your office, arrange even a small corner for short mental breaks. Utilize these brief moments as chances to visualize your ideal success. Don't postpone relishing your current living space until you obtain your dream home; you deserve to experience the comfort you know you're entitled to now.

Centered on picturing the life you desire, the Prospeh archetype aligns with a trifecta of chakras; Root, Third Eye, and Sacral Chakra. The Root Chakra will help you ground yourself and foster the belief of abundance, replacing any feelings of shortage. The Third Eye Chakra will hold the vision, which will then transport this sense of abundance down to your Sacral Chakra, using its powers of birth and creativity to create a tangible plan to transform your visions into reality. These three are pivotal for your success and precisely what Prospeh embodies.

HOME

Warm Entrance: First impressions matter, right? An entrance is the face of your home and it mirrors you, so it should be designed to usher in good vibes. Add a few plants, doormats, a fresh coat of door paint—anything that brings joy the moment you see it.

Symmetry of Objects (e.g., 3, 6, 9): Harmonizing numbers in your choice of decor can instill a sense of balance and tranquility in your space. Each combination symbolizes something distinct and should be tailored to your personal journey and needs.

Art: Choose artworks that are abundant with symbols of prosperity; think cascading waterfalls, rolling waves, lush greenery, or blooming flowers in forests. Opt for pieces that, when seen, help you visualize the growth you desire. Move past the scarcity mindset and invest in quality pieces to display in your home.

Lighting: Implement a Circadian Lighting Design using timed sensors for a gentle wake-up call. Adjust light levels for a warm ambiance, keeping the temperature at 2500-2700K for most tasks. Lighting is not merely decoration; it can accent your space like body jewelry, dripping with gold and stones.

Furniture That Fuels Fortune: Renowned for attracting wealth, inspiring better money management, and fostering growth. Consider opting for vegan leather, which offers many sustainable alternatives such as recycled plastics, cork, pineapple leaves, and other fruit by-products. Cedarwood and oak furniture not only visually elevate your area but also reinforce success, good fortune, and prosperity.

HOME

Healthy Home Office: The top way to challenge this is to fashion desk areas, either in an office setting or a home office, equipped with adjustable furniture tailored to individual needs. Consider a standing desk to encourage less sitting and more mobility while working.

Inspired Zones: Allocate spaces in your home for creating success, focus, but specially ones to practice meditation. If you spend much time in your office, arrange even a small corner for short mental breaks. Utilize these brief moments as chances to visualize your ideal success.

Declutter: Remove or repair damaged items—your setting cannot thrive amidst cluttered spaces that amplify a sense of scarcity. Evaluate whether the items occupying space in your home serve a purpose. If not, it's time they leave! Opt for furniture with hidden storage to reduce clutter and enhance the visual appeal of your space.

Laughing Buddha: Known for his joyful demeanor, this statue is believed to draw wealth and fortune when positioned in the Eastern direction or placed facing towards your home's entrance.

CHOSEN ITEMS

BODY

Bay Leaves: Long used in cooking and traditional medicine, these leaves can be used in cooking or financial manifestation rituals to attract that energy.

Ground Nutmeg: It's believed to invite good luck and abundance when paired with other potent herbs.

Saffron: It's the world's most expensive spice, and for good reason. It takes time, commitment, and dedication to just reap a small portion of this highly coveted spice. Use it when cooking or in the color choice of the clothing & jewelry that adorns your body, to remind yourself of your true worth.

Ginger: Used for inner healing and also believed to assist in attracting good luck, wealth, and prosperity to your life.

Allspice: Commonly used in spells to encourage the inflow of money into your life. Add it to your meals or drinks to infuse them with this wealth magic.

Rosemary: A fragrant herb that helps attract good fortune. Try cooking with it or drinking it as tea to enhance your chances of prosperity.
